

To earn a valuable education, you must be present and attentive to what the teacher is saying, and you must do everything with excellence. If a teacher speaks about something that interests you or states something you do not necessarily agree with, you are able to do more research and present your findings in a respectful way. No one can stop you from learning and that is why education is so valuable because it is one of the only things that can not be taken away from you. It is priceless.

With my education I hope to get a secure and well-paying job that can provide for my family. While on campus, I plan to be a light for God and teach others about him. I want to use my education to help others and teach them about God. With my education, I would provide others with the desire to get their own education and show them what a good education is. I hope to honor my parents and make them proud with my education, but most of all, I want to honor God because he is the supplier of wisdom, and there is no one smarter than him.
